

Book Information: Succeeding in the GPST Stage 3 Selection Centre: Practice scenarios for GP ST / GP VTS Stage 3 Assessments

Author: Matt Green, Gayathri Rabindra,
Nicole Corriette and Hamed Khan
ISBN: 978-1-9068390-3-1
Pages: 392
Publication Date: January 2009
Paperback

Target Market:
Doctors (FY2, SHO,
ST), undergraduates,
clinical tutors

This step-by-step guide to the GP ST 3 Selection process is full of valuable advice and practice questions, with an emphasis on the type of scenarios that candidates can expect to face on the assessment day.

About the authors

Matt Green, BSc (Hons), MPhil

Since establishing developmedica (formerly Apply2Medicine) in 2005 Matt has been supporting doctors to progress their career through providing application and interview advice together with helping doctors to develop their non-clinical skills including leadership, management, teaching and communication.

Dr Nicole Corriette BSc, MBBS, MRCGP, DFRSH, DRCOG, DCH

After winning numerous awards at UCL Nicole completed her MRCGP with a distinction overall and was nominated for the Fraser Rose medal by the RCGP. She is currently a partner in a large practice and delivers GPST courses on behalf of developmedica.

Gayathri Rabindra, MBBS, MA

Gayathri Rabindra gained her pharmacology degree from Cambridge University and completed her medical degree at Royal Free and University College Medical School. She is currently a GP ST1 on the Sidcup Vocational Training Scheme, having successfully gained a place in the London deanery. She is also involved in the GPST courses for developmedica.

Hamed Khan MBBS

Hamed Khan graduated in 2006 from Barts and The London Medical School. After completing an Academic Medical Education Foundation Programme, he started a GP Vocational Training Scheme in South London. He has extensive experience of teaching medical undergraduates, and has published in various journals. Currently he is the Succeeding in the GPST Stage 3 Selection Centre is an indepth guide to help doctors fully prepare for the three different tasks that comprise this stage of the GPST Selection process. This up-to-date resource provides detailed explanation of the aims of each of the tasks you will be faced with, what they entail and the various principles that can be employed to increase your chances of success.

In this book, which has been written by experts with first hand experience in this assessment, the following are addressed:

- Detailed description of the consultation, discussion and prioritisation tasks and how to approach them
- Cross reference to the person specification and markscheme - describing what the selectors are looking for, and the different ways to approach the tasks
- Ten practice scenarios for each of the three tasks to reinforce your learning together with detailed discussion of possible answers for each scenario
- Personal Perspectives - with tips from individuals who have successfully completed the selection process
- Discussion of the key concepts and terms that you will be faced with including amongst others significant event analysis and GP contracts.

Written by GPs who have first-hand experience of the process, this guide is a must have resource for any doctor serious about succeeding in their application to the GPST training scheme.

Contents

Chapter 1:

Introduction
Stages of assessment
What Stage 3 assessment involves
Basic Do's and Don'ts for the day

Chapter 2:

Mock Consultation
Background and General Principles
Mark scheme
Practice scenarios and discussion

Chapter 3:

Group Discussion
Background and General Principles
Mark scheme
Practice scenarios and discussion

Chapter 4:

Prioritisation
Background and General Principles
Mark scheme
Practice scenarios and discussion

Chapter 5:

General information
General Practice terms which can come up in group discussion
Resources